

PLASTOMER CORPORATION - SELLER CONSIDERATIONS FOR POTENTIAL BUYERS

If buyer has purchase orders that also refer to terms and considerations that include references to the topics listed below, or topics very near in the same meaning, those topics will need to be specifically negotiated with Plastomer upper management.

If buyer issues orders for parts/products from seller or its affiliates, the shipment of, or commencement of work, on parts/products by seller does not indicate contractual agreement with any terms or conditions unless signed in writing by appropriate Plastomer upper management.

The purpose of these considerations is to satisfy customer expectations with clearly defined and mutually agreed actions and procedures regarding specific requirements.

Considerations that require specific agreement include:

1. Price maintenance without allowable changes for good cause.
2. Restrictions against seller terminating responsibility for supplying the product with sufficient notice.
3. Seller to be able to respond to changes in delivery schedules, quantities, locations or packaging without the ability to pass on costs of satisfying such demands.
4. Seller to support costs of quality issues without its prior agreement and consent.
5. Seller to allow customers or its representatives to have access to seller and affiliates premises, technology, property, documents, equipment, tools, financial records, process information or any other seller controlled information, without sellers prior notice and written approval.
6. Any demand that interferes with Plastomer's ability to operate efficiently for all of its customers, and interferes with our ability to maintain solid financial stability.

Please contact George Baughman, Vice President of Sales and Marketing in order to initiate discussions to satisfy your concerns in this regard.

Thank You.
